Dear Parish Family,

Remembrance Day is more than a tradition. It is part of our identity as a nation, part of who we are as a people together. And as Catholics we never forget those who have gone before us. This week, as we marked Remembrance Day 2026, we paused to honour those who sacrificed their lives and futures for others, never forgetting them. And we prayed for peace. I know firsthand the devastation of war, and how important it is that we both pray and work for peace. For me, remembering means giving thanks for their sacrifice without glorifying war, and facing honestly the devastation it brings. Originally called Armistice Day, this commemoration recalls the moment the guns fell silent on the Western Front in 1918. After the Second World War, its scope broadened to remember the dead of all wars. That history asks something of us today: unless we reflect on where we've been, we risk repeating the mistakes of the past.

Wherever possible, we wear the red Flanders poppy as an enduring visual tribute to the fallen: a symbol of solidarity and sadness, but also of hope that one day there will be no war. Its connection with remembrance is expressed in 'In Flanders Fields' by John McCrae. The poem begins: 'In Flanders fields the poppies blow, Between the crosses, row on row, that mark our place; and in the sky, The larks, still bravely singing, fly, scarce heard amid the guns below.'

The poppy's story brings together remembrance and practical care. John McCrae, a Canadian army physician, was moved by the poppies growing on the battlefields and among the war graves at Ypres, Belgium. In 1915, after the funeral of a friend who had died and was buried there, he wrote 'In Flanders Fields'. Inspired by the poem, American academic Moina Michael helped promote the poppy as an international symbol of remembrance and support for veterans. For more than a century, poppy appeals associated with 11 November have helped turn remembrance into practical assistance. In Australia, the RSL continues to sell poppies to support its welfare work for veterans and their families, especially families bereaved in time of war.

On Wednesday at 11.00am, we stood together as a nation for a minute's silence. That shared act of remembrance connects us with people in other nations, including our neighbours in New Zealand. Our countries share the ANZAC tradition, named for the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps, and we recall the mateship associated with Gallipoli in Turkey. Yet remembrance reaches beyond our own national story. As observances move across time zones, we can picture an almost day-long wave of remembering and prayer for peace, rather than a single moment observed everywhere at once. Our prayer matters; standing with our brothers and sisters, matters.

As a parish family, let us carry this remembrance beyond the minute's silence: praying for those who live with war and its consequences, supporting veterans and their families, and choosing reconciliation in our own relationships. May our remembrance become a daily commitment to peace. 'They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old: Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn. At the going down of the sun and in the morning, we will remember them. We will remember them.' (from the 'For the Fallen' by English poet Laurence Binyon, which we now use as part of our Ode to the fallen).

Safeguarding in Catholic Schools

The 58 Catholic schools within the Diocese of Maitland-Newcastle have a shared responsibility to ensure the safety, welfare and wellbeing of nearly 21,000 students. Safeguarding is a fundamental commitment grounded in Catholic values, children's rights and a zero-tolerance approach to abuse, neglect and harm.

Schools must provide safe, inclusive and supportive learning environments where children feel respected, valued and confident to speak up. Key responsibilities include ensuring all staff, volunteers and contractors meet relevant Working with Children Check requirements and complete mandatory safeguarding training.

Staff must recognise indicators of abuse, neglect, grooming and harm, respond appropriately to disclosures, maintain confidentiality and follow diocesan reporting procedures. Any safeguarding concerns must be documented and escalated promptly to appropriate school leaders and the Diocesan Office of Safeguarding, as well as statutory authorities where required.

Principals and school leaders are responsible for embedding safeguarding policies, promoting professional boundaries, managing risks and ensuring accountability across school communities. Schools must also educate students about personal safety, respectful relationships, online safety and their right to be heard.

Through vigilance, education, prevention and transparent reporting, Catholic schools aim to protect every child and uphold their dignity and rights….but, ultimately, safeguarding is everyone's responsibility.

World Day of the Poor - November 15

This day is an opportunity for all Christians to draw closer to Christ by encountering those who live in poverty in the community, said Bishop Tim Harris, chair of the Bishops Commission for Social Justice, Mission and Service.

Bishop Harris made his remarks after reflecting on Pope Leo's 2026 Message for the World Day of the Poor, "The Lord is the Refuge of the Poor".

"The Pope's message calls for a change in our attitude to the poor," Bishop Harris said.

"We who encounter Christ in the Eucharist cannot be indifferent to the plight of those who are poor; we must seek to become a refuge for the poor.

We become a refuge for the poor when we leave our comfort zones and spend time with the poor, listen to their experiences and their feelings and become their companions.

We are called to be signs of God's love in the community.

That means much more than offering a gift of money or goods and walking on by.

It means walking side-by-side with the poor and challenging the injustices in society which cause their poverty."

Bishop Harris pointed to a recent report on increasing hunger in Australia as an indication that the cost-of-living crisis in Australia continues.

Foodbank Australia's Hunger Report 2026 says that the number of Australians going without food has increased by 100,000 in the last year. Over three million Australians including many children face food insecurity, according to the report.

"People living on low incomes such as those living on government income support and those in low-paid jobs are getting deeper and deeper into poverty as the cost of food, fuel, utilities and rent continue to rise," Bishop Harris said.

"I encourage all Christians to get to know those who live in poverty in their local community and to join with others to advocate for change which can offer hope to those who face a constant struggle to live with any dignity."

For the proper use of wealth

Let us pray for the proper use of wealth, that not succumbing to the temptation of selfishness, it may always be put at the service the common good and solidarity of those who have less.
